

As A Whole

100% is what we expect from ourselves
100% is never what we get out
Humans fight for their flames to burn
Burn brighter than the sun that sustains us
But fail to understand why
Why does it burn
Why should we want it to
Why should we care about anything
When
As a human
We fail at our own understanding
At why we do the things we do
We idle
We do things yet we don't at the same time
We fail to understand our own nature
Our stance on why exactly it is we should live
And that same reason is why we don't live
Many don't understand what they're doing
People only follow what people tell them
You should want a family
You should want this new product
You should want a relationship
But should you want anything?
Have you given a single thought
Contrary to the thoughts ushered into your brain
As to what you might want
You won't get 100%
As much as it's told that you should be at 100% you won't get that satisfaction
No one ever does
You make up these falsehoods that everyone is at their 100%
Yet fail to remember that we all share the same flaws and tribulations
one in the same
To forget your nature and to not comprehend it
You choose not to live
Your life starts when you realize what actually matters to you