

I Am Me

By Lashay Johnson

Older me and younger me are two different people, but overall we are WE.

The Real.

Younger me would think older me is so cool.

We are still we.

There's been a lot of things that've gone left.

Example I got older I've become less adapted from school.

We are still we.

Younger me loved to lurk.

Younger me never could stay out late.

We are still we.

Never in my life have I gone bowling and hit a strike.

Younger me would hide being gay and say "yeah, I'm straight."

We are we.

Younger me used to sing in the choir. Church folks still ask me "when you gonna sing?"

I'm older now, and I rebel a lot. I just hope God forgives me for my sin.

We are still we.

My chances of going to college are pretty thin.

What's a gin?

We are still We.

I don't listen to jazz.

My birthday is the 29th of June.

We are still we.

Hope I'm remembered when I die.

Hope my time don't come soon.
