

Identity

Identity is a very confusing thing
I used to see myself as a pink silhouette
Most girls do
“Pink is for girls”

But I never liked pink
In fact I hated pink
I liked blue better
But girls aren't allowed to like blue

I started to see myself as a pink silhouette
But it was different now
I looked pink with splotches of blue
It still didn't feel like enough

Looking at myself now
I see myself as a blue silhouette
I liked blue
My silhouette finally reflected me