

Pain

by Hilary N Taveras Adino

Pain is inevitable

but so is love

It's hard to do either, when you don't have an ounce of trust

You try to open up when it gets to close you back up

It's a cycle bound to happen when a girl has felt neglected, feelings were subjected .

no one has a clear understanding not even me and i'm the last one standing in my team

The dead end has passed the highway but would I really make the chase if there was no traffic.

people want what's farthest from there reach when the mission isn't accomplished they just go around and preach , preach and tease like if they made it happen

but how do you feel so accomplished over something you couldn't touch or even see

Everythings a flex entertainment has reached beyond the streets

at least that what i see

Bodies are up for auction dr.mami said take a seat

Tell me what you don't like about the fat around your arm or do you want a couple inches off that pouch . standards have increased and the girls just follow the lead never being happy with the beauty they already hold in deep .

fighting for things they don't even need boys thats only is to sell his last 8th on the block on 63

I respect the hustle don't get me wrong

But the bare minimum has become the highest standard these men decide to reach and females just fantasize about it like if the man got on his damn knees.

I can't stand 2023.