

Learn To Love Again

By Yariheliz Soto-Figueroa

In the depths of love, a fragile heart did reside,
But alas, it shattered, leaving scars deep inside.
A symphony of emotions, a bittersweet refrain,
Heartbreak's melody, echoing through the pain.

Like a fragile flower, love bloomed so bright,
But the winds of change blew with all their might.
Tears fell like raindrops, a storm in the soul,
As the pieces of a broken heart took their toll.

Yet in the darkness, hope begins to rise,
Mending the wounds, wiping tears from weary eyes.
For from heartbreak's ashes, strength is born anew,
A chance to heal, to rediscover what is true.

For in the depths of heartbreak, we find our strength,
And learn to love again, at any length.